

The Frankfort Roundabout

Entered at the postoffice at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class mailable matter.

GEO. A. LEWIS, Editor and Pub.

FRANKFORT, OCTOBER 29, 1898.

He's the Kind We Like.

Capt. Brooks, of the U. S. Army, was ordered by the American Commission now in session in Havana to go to Maestranza and make complete notes of the war material being taken away from the arsenal and fortifications by the Spanish.

As soon as his presence and purpose were known the Spanish commander ordered him out. He refused. The Lieut. Colonel of the Spanish came and ordered him to stop making notes and leave the place under pain of arrest.

Brooks replied that he was under orders from the American commander; did not recognize any other authority; would continue his work until complete; and would only report to his superior officers, and defied arrest at the peril of the man who attempted it.

He finished his work in due time, although followed around by a crowd of Spanish soldiers and citizens, and took his notes to the Commission.

Capt. Gen. Blanco sent for the Lieut. Colonel and berated him in a lively manner for not arresting Brooks and taking his notes.

Wouldn't there have been a lively scene just about the time they attempted Brooks arrest?

He is the kind of man we want kept right there until this mix up is over and Spain kicked out.

December 1--January 1.

It is given out authoritatively that the Spanish Government has been given until January 1st to remove her soldiers from Cuba, on account of the fact that it was found utterly impracticable to obtain transportation for them before that time.

But our Government adheres to her first determination to assume control of affairs in that island December 1st in all civil matters, thus cutting off the revenues of the Spanish authorities who have been fattening off of the people all the time negotiations have been pending.

We have all along thought this step should have been taken by November 1st at the outside, and could see no good reason why there should have been any delay in this matter for so long.

Now that a date has been fixed, it will be sturdily adhered to and the scoundrels who have been robbing this sorely oppressed people will be bounced at the time set.

No wonder the thieves should howl and squirm when their grip has been loosened from the public teat at which they have fattened so long.

Stop That.

Our government has preemptorily ordered the Spanish in Havana to stop the sale of cannon and the carrying away of Krapp guns, &c., from the fortifications of that city.

The Military Commissioners had repeatedly protested against these things to Gen. Blanco but he paid no attention to their protests, hence they reported to their government, and President McKinley at once made formal demand upon Senor Sagasta to put a stop to the pillage.

It seems that all the money derived from the sale of cannon, &c., was being pocketed by the Spanish authorities in Cuba and was a practical robbery of both America and Spain.

of 109 birds but in all probability 104 will be actually delivered as an accurate count reveals the latter number.

Mr. Harbert began the growing of ostriches about ten years ago. He shipped a number of birds here from California, but all but two died on the way from the effects of the journey. The female bird, it proved, was not prolific and the fact occasioned a delay of four years. After that time, however, the birds began increasing rapidly and the present flock is the result of the humble start made under unpropitious circumstances.

Ostrich culture has been profitable—not only through the natural increase of the birds from the income derived from the sale of feathers. The birds are plucked every eight months. At the present time Mr. Harbert has several pens of breeding birds. A statement made out recently showed that gross receipts of the farm from all sources from November 1, 1897, amounted to $3,548.37. The gate fees alone during the months of January, February, March and April of the present year amounted to $305.40. This shows that the ostrich farm is a favorite visiting place for sight seers who may be spending the winter in the valley. Other sources of profit were 29 birds valued at $50 each; 20 setting birds to pluck at $14.27 each, amounting to $285.40; sales of plumes and feathers ran the total up so the sum indicated. The income since Nov. 1896, was $1,928.50.

That the birds are going into good hands is shown by the incorporation papers filed. All of the gentlemen concerned are careful, enterprising business men and they will undoubtedly make the ostrich farm a more and more popular resort than ever. The future location of the birds is much closer to Phoenix than in the past and this fact alone will add much to the popularity of the resort.

The Amen! of marriage is always a baby. Without it, wedlock is a summer field that never blooms, a flower that never buds, a night without stars, a sermon without a benediction, a prayer without an Amen.

There never was a husband worthy of the name, who did not aspire to be the father and grandfather of healthy, capable children to hand down his name and the fortune accumulated by the sweat of his brow, from generation to generation. There never was a wife fit to bear that noble title, who did not wish to wear womanhood's most glorious crown, the sceptre of motherhood. Thousands of wedded couples, otherwise happy, fall short of wedlock's greatest happiness because they are childless. In the majority of cases, this is because the wife, through ignorance or neglect, suffers from weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. For women who suffer in this way there is one great medicine that does not fail to accomplish its purpose. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned and makes them strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones the shattered nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It quickens and vitalizes the distinctly feminine organism. It banishes the maladies of the expectant months and makes baby's introduction to the world easy and almost painless. It insures the little new-comer's health and nourishment in plenty. It is the best supportive tonic for nursing mothers.

Mrs. Jennie Parks, of Marshall, Spokane Co., Wash., writes: "I am glad to tell of the good results of your great medicine, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was benefited by your medicine in confinement. It gives me strength. I have no tired feeling and my baby is the picture of health. I feel better than I have in ten years."

In cases of constipation Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used as an adjunct to the "Favorite Prescription," they are extremely simple, perfectly natural and insure prompt and permanent relief.

The Two Laws Contrasted.

Editor of the Roundabout:

It has been said quite recently, by Hon. William Goebel, in defense of what is known as the "Goebel Election Law," that the Ohio Legislature had passed a law much more stringently favoring the dominating party than his law. I have taken the pains to examine into the facts and herewith present a synopsis of each law. Any one who doubts the accuracy of the facts as here given can verify them by a comparison of the two laws as found in our State Library.

The Goebel law creates three State Commissioners, who are of one political faith. They are self-perpetuating; if one should die or resign the others can supply his place. The State Commissioners appoint three County Commissioners who may be all of one party. The County Commissioners may be relieved at any moment by the State Commissioners without notice or assignment of reasons therefor. The County and State Commissioners cannot be prosecuted or in any way held responsible for their acts.

The Ohio law creates no State Commissioners. The Secretary of State, elected by the people, is compelled to appoint such Commissioners as are nominated by the party committees of the county, two and two. For instance the County Democratic Committee names two men. The Republican Committee names two men. The Secretary of State must appoint these four men. Then those four men nominate two men for clerk, Republican and Democrat, and lots are cast to see which will be secretary. If the Democrat gets it, one of the Republican Commissioners is made judge or Chairman of the Commission. Or, if the clerk is a Republican then a Democrat is made judge. Thus the County Commission is composed, and cannot be changed by any one person or party. The Ohio Commissioners are liable to indictment and a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000; or imprisonment; or both fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court.

There never were two laws more dissimilar in purpose and design.

The Kentucky law is drawn for the purpose of depriving all parties but one of any supervisory power over the conduct of the election, and that without any redress in the way of appeal to the courts for justice.

The Ohio law compels every thing to be done under the supervision of each party, punishes wrong doing, and gives jurisdiction for revision by the judiciary.

The one provides for dishonesty in elections—the other punishes it.

TRUTH.

Will be Mustered Out.

The two Brown brothers, Hord and Sam, have returned to New York City to report to their regiment, the 71st New York, to be mustered out of the service. They have been at home on a furlough to await final discharge.

It will be remembered that Mr. Sam Brown broke the ankle bone of his right leg since he has been at home, and he returned on crutches.

They expect to return to their business in Jersey City and New York City, November 1st.
